

Miller, Madeline (2011)

Song of Achilles

Achilles and his best friend Patroclus forged an unbreakable bond, despite their vast differences. Achilles is destined to be the greatest of all his countrymen, while Patroclus is an awkward exile. Their love for one another draws them into the Trojan War where the Fates have terrible plans for them both.

Solomon, Rachel Lynn

Business or Pleasure (2023)

Chandler Cohen is a ghostwriter who feels like a ghost in her own life. In a moment of desperation, she has a disastrous one-night stand with a man who turns out to be her next client, bottom-rung actor, Finn Walsh. As she discovers the truth about the lovable nerd person he plays in movies, Chandler must reconcile her personal and professional desires.

Sparks, Nicholas

Every Breath (2018)

A chance encounter becomes a transcendent turning point for two very different people, including the conflicted surgeon daughter of an ALS patient and a Sunset Beach newcomer from Zimbabwe who aims to meet his birth father.

Thayer, Nancy

Surfside Sisters (2019)

Returning to her Nantucket childhood home in the wake of personal and professional setbacks, novelist Keely Green is forced to face her estranged best friend, Isabelle, and when she begins to fall for Isabelle's brother, things become complicated.

Weiner, Jennifer

The Breakaway (2023)

In this NYT bestseller, Jennifer Weiner weaves a warm and satisfying story about how we come to terms with family, love, and our own self-image.

Yarros, Rebecca

The Last Letter (2019)

A deeply thoughtful contemporary novel, The Last Letter is a slow-burn romance that evolves gradually as the chapters switch back and forth between Beckett, whose unstable upbringing has made him hesitant to form attachments and Mary, a single mother of two who manages a Colorado resort.

Romance

We've got a little of everything: contemporary, historical, chick lit, time travel, suspense and more. Even the "non-romance" readers should find something of interest.

Bailey, Tessa

Hook, Line, and Sinker (2022)

A fun and funny follow up to It Happened One Summer, this book traces flirtatious fisherman, Fox, and Hannah, the one woman who is immune to his charms but actually likes his personality. Unfortunately, she has an unrequited crush on a coworker back home. As Fox uses his vast experience to help Hannah improve her love life, they both discover that there is more to the other person than meets the eye.

Bereger, Samara

A Long Time Dead (2023)

Recalling the best and most daring of Anne Rice's Vampire Chronicles, Berger weaves a tale about a Victorian sex worker transformed into the living dead. As she comes to terms with this new half-life, she must reconcile herself to what has been lost and celebrate what can still be found.

Fawcett, Heather

Emily Wilde's Encyclopaedia of Fairies (2023)

Cambridge folklorist, Emily Wilde, is an expert on all things relating to the Fair Ones. In fact, she is much more comfortable with them and with her books than she is with other human beings. However, when she travels to the distant village of Hrafensvik and meets Wendell Bumbleby, she may have to rethink everything she knows - not just about fairies but about love, too.

Fenske, Tawna

The Two Date Rule (2020)

In Fenske's fun and engrossing examination of attachment fears, readers meet Willa and Grady, two individuals whose commitment issues get in the way of amazing chemistry and a profound connection. As Willa's anxiety conflicts with her newfound attraction, she is forced to challenge her own previously-unbreakable "Two-Date Rule."

Forest, Kristina

The Neighbor Favor (2023)

When Lily begins to correspond with her favorite fantasy author, her frustrations about her stalled professional and personal life all begin to vanish - until he does, too.

Gabalton, Diana

The Outlander Series

This series is the standard against which all time-travel romances are judged. In the first book Outlander, a nurse visiting Scotland after WWII walks between some standing stones and finds herself in 18th century Scotland. There are eight books in the series & a TV series.

Hazelwood, Ali

The Love Hypothesis (2021)

When Olive Smith, a pragmatic third-year PhD student, feels forced to test her theory that lasting relationships don't exist, she kisses the first man she sees. Unfortunately, that man is a high-flying young professor known far and wide as the tyrant of the labs. Like any relationship, theirs is full of surprises - and nothing surprises the pair more than their mutual chemistry!

Jimenez, Abby

Part of Your World (2022)

The protagonist's healing takes center-stage in a story filled with dynamic characters. Will Dr. Alexis Montgomery choose obligation and continue the family tradition of serving as surgeons at a prestigious hospital or will she forge a new life with Daniel, the young carpenter who serves as mayor for a small Minnesota town?

King, Lily

Writers & Lovers (2020)

Langston, Erin

Forever Your Rogue (2023)

In this Regency-Era romance, Cora Dane, relieved that her philandering husband is dead, must fight to maintain custody of her children. The only defense? Marry - and marry well. If the thought of reading wonderful love letters, seeing a rake reformed, and ugly crying at the end sounds appealing, this may be the novel for you!

Lauren, Christina

The Soulmate Equation (2021)

When computer-algorithm-based dating reaches the next level and begins to match people based on their DNA, no one is more surprised with his match than the prickly CEO of the dating app company. Does the software work? And more importantly, will he and his new partner find each other in this smart, fast-paced novel?

McQuiston, Casey

Red, White and Royal Blue (2022)

The Prince of Wales and the son of the President of the United States? In this novel, McQuinton gives a whole new perspective on foreign relations and international incidents as Alex Clairmont-Diaz, a millennial Gordon Gecko, meets the man he has vilified for years. But what happens when Alex realizes there's more to the young prince than he could have ever imagined?

Meltzer, Jean

The Matzah Ball (2021)

Rachel has a deep, dark secret: she is a Jew who loves Christmas. To make matters worse, she makes her living (secretly) from writing Christmas romance novels. But when her publisher demands that she add to the firm's diversity by writing a Hanukkah romance, her inspiration falls flat. It will take a nudge - and maybe more than a nudge - from her old enemy, Jacob, to find the magic in Hanukkah - and in Jacob.
